If the reader has merer before read of beautiful ink blots—and, certainly the words would appear paradoxical—let him read on and maybe be will become no fassinated with the idea that he will take up the hobby of cultivating blots with enthusiasm.

It must be explained that the blots under discussion are not made by merely filling a pen with ink and allowing the drops to fall on paper; they are not the control of the

ELECTRIFIED STOCKINGS.

ELECTRIFIED STOCKINGS.

Some Interesting Experiments Described—Over Autica.

Robert Symmer, in 1765, described one most entertaining experiments, making use of the opposite electrifications of superposed stockings of different materials or merely of different case causing differentiation). If, in a dry atmosphere, a silk stocking be drawn over the leg and a woolen one pulled over it, the two will be found, upon being removed, to be vary powerfully electrified in opposite senses. If the four stockings of two such pairs be used and then suspended together, they will indulge in remarkable anties due to each of the silk stockings trying to attract both of the woolen ones, and vice versa, and, on the other hand, each of each kind repelling the other. The amount of electrical attraction and repulsion produced in this simple way in a dry atmosphere is remarkable. The experiment may also be performed with all eith stockings, one pair white and the other black—Ernest A. Lesseur, in Popular Science Monthly.

An interesting question has from timetotime been discussed by naturalists and physiologists, as to whether the scorpion commits suicide by stingists and physiologists, as to whether the scorpion commits suicide by stinging himself with his own venomous dart. Experiments have often been made, which consist in surrounding the scorpion with a circle of fire, usually formed by small pieces of burning coals. One may then see this animal agitate his tail in the air, which is the still be animal agitate his tail in the air, which is the still be animal agitate his tail in the air, which is the still be animal agitate his tail in the air, which is the still be animal agitate his tail in the air, which is the still be animal agitate his tail in the air, which is the still be animal agitate his tail to have decided that he could not except from the flames and to innoculate himself with his own venom. This idea is now, however, found to be erroneous, as it has been proved that the scorpion is not affected by his own venomous finid, and the hypothesis of his suicide cannot be maintained. It appears from later observations made upon the death of the scorpion is, in fact, very sensitive the conditions in question, that a more simple explanation is to be found.
